From Eros to Eternity: Part II

Urban Geology on Piccadilly & Bond Street

The Geological Society of London, in collaboration with London Walks

£9 (£7 for discounts)

London is home to a wealth of exotic stones and clues to our geological past – you just need to know where to look. Dr Ruth Siddall of UCL will lead a journey through the rocks of Piccadilly, from the granites of Scotland to the marbles of India, travelling through billions of years of geological time. We will find out about the architecture and building stones used on Piccadilly, how they are described and characterised, and the geological processes that have shaped our city.

18th October 2014, 10.45 am

Green Park Tube Station (North Exit), Piccadilly W1
