

Green Chain Walk Geotrail

Wednesday 15 October 10.30am – 4pm (approx.)
Meet at Thames Barrier café, SE18 5NJ
Nearest train station: Charlton

The London Geodiversity Partnership has developed a seven-mile Geological Trail with the SE London Green Chain between the Thames Barrier and Lesnes Abbey. This walk covers 12 points of geological interest including two Sites of Special Scientific Interest at Gilbert's Pit and the fossil bed in Lesnes Abbey Woods.

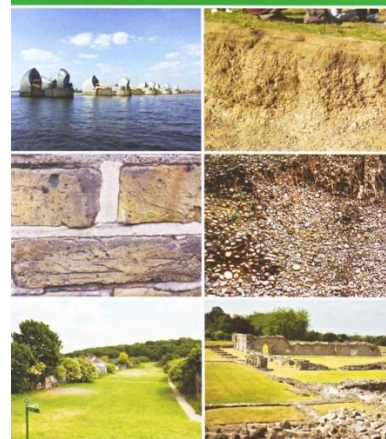

For more information email: info@londongeopartnership.org.uk

A guide to the Geotrail is available on the Green Chain website:
http://greenchain.com/downloads/file/1/green_chain_geo_trail_guide

Thanks to the Curry Fund for support of this project

The walk is free and does not require booking

Green Chain Walk GEOTRAIL

A 7 mile walk along the Green Chain Walk from the Thames Barrier to Lesnes Abbey, which includes 12 geologically interesting stopping points that illustrate London's geological past of tropical seas and nearby glaciers. For more details of the route and detailed descriptions of the stops see: www.greenchain.com

The London Geodiversity Partnership acknowledge the assistance of The Curry Fund of the Geologists' Association, <http://www.geologistsassociation.org.uk>