The Geological Society teams up with OaMetrix

The Geological Society is pleased to collaborate with OaMetrix to manage all its Open Access Article Processing Charges (APC). OaMetrix simplifies APC payments for authors and institutions. Authors wishing to publish open access in any of the Geological Society's hybrid journals will be invited to create an invoice in OaMetrix. More information about OaMetrix can be found on the OaMetrix site and on our open access pages.

Supporting identity in peer review

Last week members of the publishing community celebrated reviewers in its annual peer review week. The theme for 2021 focussed on identity in peer review and was an opportunity to reflect on how to improve the equality and diversity in peer review. Some of the steps that the Geological Society has taken towards this goal during 2021 include an updated name change policy, ensuring co-reviewers receive the acknowledgement they deserve and adopting transparent peer review in our newly launched open access journal, Earth Science, Systems and Society.

FREE EVENT Spacescapes: Postcards from our solar system

Venue: Burlington House Courtyard, Piccadilly
9am - 6pm, 20 August - 8 October 2021

Explore stunning landscapes and amazing geological features from our world and others in our free outdoor exhibition this summer!

Call for Expressions of interest to join the Journal of the Geological Society Editorial Board

The Journal of the Geological Society (JGS) invites expressions of interest to join the JGS Editorial Board as a Subject Editor.

JGS publishes topical, innovative, and interdisciplinary research with global reach across the full range of Earth and planetary sciences. As a Subject Editor, you will participate in the development of the journal and be responsible for managing the peer review of 2-5 submissions per year.

JGS is proud to have an international editorial board covering a wide range of subject areas. We encourage diversity in the background, perspective, and career stage of our board members. Please contact the Journal Manager, Tricia Pantoş, at jgs@geolsoc.org.uk for more information.

The closing date for applications is 30 November 2021.

Introducing our 'Spotlight on Lyell Content' video series

Our new video series 'Spotlight on Lyell Content' invites authors to discuss the highlights of their papers.

Watch the first two in the series here.

If you're interested in being involved in future videos in this series please contact marketing@geolsoc.org.uk

Calling all Authors

Publish your work Open Access with our transformative read-and-publish agreements

Our transformative read-and-publish agreements enable authors based at participating institutions to publish Open Access in our hybrid journals and books at no cost to themselves.

Take a look at our Read and Publish information page and see if your institution is signed-up.

If your institution isn't on our list but you'd like it to be, please do share this information with your library or email your GSL publication contact for further information.

Journal Thematic Collections

Final Call for Papers: Astrobiology: perspectives from the geology of Earth and the Solar System

This collection aims to showcase research around the origin and evolution of life, and planetary habitability from the perspective of Earth and our Solar System.

More information can be found here

Call for Papers: Hydrogeology of Sandstone

Submit to this thematic collection until 20th December 2021. This collection of papers draws from the presentations to be given at the conference of the same name, convened by the Society's Hydrogeology Group and supported by the Contaminated Land Group, but is also open to contributions not related to the conference.

More information can be found here

Heartiest congratulations to the authors of the most read papers in August 2021 in the Lyell Collection

Year of Space Collection

The Year of Space will see the Society direct its gaze upwards, beyond the earth beneath our feet, towards the lesser explored corners of our universe. Space science seeks to answer some of life's biggest questions - why are we here, how did life evolve, and are we alone? To answer these questions, space and planetary scientists search for clues in the rocks, dust, gas and other matter which help them understand the formation and development of planets, moons, stars and perhaps other life in our universe...read more
